Reflections

What can we learn this Easter time?

Familiarity with the Easter events teaches us about the servant nature of Christ. The broader implications for us, surrounding the Easter story, takes us to the example of Jesus, and to self-emptying actions. These actions teach us about sacrificial love, by going beyond ourselves, and giving out to others. It may also be a reminder of being able to receive and accept love from others.

The premise for service to others, is faith, and trust in God, given to us in the example of Jesus, through giving and receiving in community. This can breathe opportunities for new hope, in the challenging spaces in our lives, and the lives of others.

May this Easter be a time for internal reflection and change, enhancing our service to others, in our communities where we live, serve and rest. God grant us courage, to live as loved, forgiven and forgiving people. Morris

The stone was rolled away from the doorway, not to permit Christ to come out, but to enable the disciples to go in.
